

THE _____ EXPERIMENT

NEW MUSIC ENSEMBLE

ABOUT US

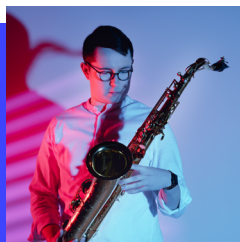

The _____ Experiment (pronounced The “Blank” Experiment) is an up and coming flexible instrumentation ensemble based in the Midwest. With over 30 commissions, this group is committed to expanding the repertoire for mixed chamber ensembles. Their mission is to commission music by a variety of composers in order to create high quality, but audibly approachable new music by performing outreach concerts for a variety of audiences in various locations. This ensemble was originally founded in 2017 by Andrew Hosler and Michelle Cusick as a clarinet, saxophone, and harp trio. The _____ Experiment quickly began collaborating with composers around the United States to create works for this new instrumentation.

Over the past five years, The _____ Experiment has commissioned and performed new music from composers around the world, including Josh Trentadue, Robert Lemay, Salvador Alan Jacobo, and Selena Ryan. The ensemble also expanded to include bassoon and harp. In the Fall of 2021, the ensemble hosted its first virtual concert, Kadupal, which spanned three days. The _____ Experiment was also the featured ensemble for Bowling Green State University's Praecepta Mini Fest in March 2022.

The members of The _____ Experiment are located in Ann Arbor, MI, Cleveland, OH, Chicago, IL, Wichita, KS, and San Francisco, CA. They hold a cumulative total of 11.5 degrees from prestigious institutions including University of Michigan, Bowling Green State University, University of North Texas, Michigan State University, DePaul University, and Wichita State University. When not rehearsing, the members of this ensemble enjoy mountain biking, taking care of their pets and plants, and laughing at cheesy jokes about musicians.
